1940 Forecast for Cotton Is 72% Normal

Agriculture Department Estimates 12,741,000 Bales

WASHINGTON —(AP)—The agriculture department Tuesday forecast this year's cotton crop at 12,741,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight, as indicated by October 1 conditions.

The crop forecast was at 12,772,000 a month ago. Last year's crop was 11,817,000 bales. Average production during the ten years from 1929-38 was 13,546,000 bales.

Condition of the crop October 1 is 72 per cent normal as compared with 68 for a year ago and 63 for the 10 year average.

The acre yield is 250 pounds as indicated by October 1 conditions compared with 250.7 pounds a month ago and 237.5 produced last year and 189.1 pounds for a ten year average.

Arkansas conditions are 78 per cent normal and indicated an acre yield of 343 pounds and total production of 1,565,000 bales.

New Building Is Dedicated

Crowds Gather for Christian Church Service

A capacity crowd gathered at the First Christian Church here Sunday for the all-day service and dedication and corner-stone laying of the new $45,000 Sunday school building and church remodeling project which was recently completed.

Delegations from Texarkana, Idaho and Prescott and individuals from many other towns visited Sunday and took part in the services.

Principal speaker of the day was the Rev. Millard D. Baggett, who officiated at the dedication and preached the morning service. Judge Lavinia of Texarkana, President of the Texas Layman League, spoke after the dedication service.

One of the outstanding services of the day was the singing Sunday afternoon when old and favorite hymns were sung.

The dedication Sunday was preceded by an openhouse Friday night at which time the ladies of the church served refreshments to many visitors.

Haynes Chapel to Hold Fair

Negroes to Feature 'Live-at-Home' Program

Haynes Chapel community is making final preparation for its annual free community fair, which will be held Thursday and Friday, October 10, 11 at the community church and school houses. The exhibits featuring the "Live-at-Home" program, promises to be the best of its kind for the vocational agriculture groups.

The exhibits will show some of the things that the Evening, Part Time, and All-day classes in agriculture have learned and put into practice at their homes. See the progress these folks are making under organize instruction.

The Live-at-Home program has been emphasized in all teaching by J. V. Washington, home economic teacher and J. A. Harris, vocational agriculture teacher of Yenger High School.

The two day program will feature each afternoon races, contests, and baseball. The exhibit hall will be open each day at 10:00 a. m. The night programs will consist of demonstrations, singing, speaking and stunts.

Contest Trial Gets Underway Here Tuesday

County Judges' Contest Is Expected to Last Two Weeks

The long awaited Hempstead county judge contest case got underway here Tuesday morning, taking the place of the regular circuit court docket which was postponed until November 12.

Miss Annie Jean Walker and John L. Wilson were the only witnesses to take the stand Tuesday morning. During the afternoon session a list of voters, who have been questioned by Wilson, was combed and the reason for questioning each one is being submitted to the court. This list includes several hundred names from precincts all over the county.

Nothing definite is expected to be reached until later on in the week when qualifications of the voters will be looked into. The trial is expected to last about two weeks or longer.

The contest was filed here by Mr. Wilson after the County Democratic Central Committee had certified Fred Luck as county judge by a nine-vote margin. The unofficial count had given John Wilson a three-vote lead. Errors in three boxes on the official count were in Mr. Luck's favor overturning the three-vote lead held by Mr. Wilson.

In the Nevada circuit court at Prescott September 24, Judge Dexter Bush overruled a demurrer, in Fred Luck's behalf, asking that the contest be dismissed. The trial was then set for October 7.

The last census of northern Ireland, in 1937, showed 656,000 females and 623,000 males.

To Discuss Gas Rate in Hope

Committee to Meet La.-Ark. Officials Wednesday

The Gas Consumers Committee of Hope will meet officials of the Arkansas Louisiana Gas company in an executive conference here some time Wednesday to discuss the ultimatum given the company by the city at the meeting of the State Utilities Commission in Little Rock October 1.

After the state commission had demanded, and the company had accepted, October 1, a new over-all residential rate making the first general bracket 45c per thousand cubic feet, instead of the present net rate of 55c, the Gas Consumers Committee of Hope will meet with the company to discuss the ultimatum given the company by the city at the meeting of the State Utilities Commission in Little Rock October 1.

Uncle Sam Has Philippine Issue by Tail; Can't Let Go, Can't Climb on

Every Solution Has Drawbacks; Islands' Defense Difficult

Second of two articles analyzing and highlighting the Philippine problem—American hot potato in the boiling Far East kettle.

By PETER EDSON
Editor, NEA Service

MANILA, Philippine Islands—There are innumerable drawbacks to most of the solutions so far proposed for settling the Philippines can never become a state within the Union. As a state, with 16,000,000 population—between a sixth and a seventh the population of the United States—the Filipinos would have a representation in congress which might be a balance of power and throw control over all domestic issues into the hands of a Philippine bloc. That's out.

Mr. Big of the Philippines . . . President Manuel Quezon.

If a dominion status were devised for the Philippines, whereby the Filipinos would have absolute control over their internal affairs, such as Australia and Canada have as dominions within the British Empire, it would be up to the United States to guarantee Philippine defense and make the islands proof against invasion. The cost would be tremendous and the success of the defense would be doubtful from the start.

If the United States decides the Philippines are too rich a prize to be thrown away, perhaps the only solution is for the American government to take over the islands completely and run their internal as well as their external affairs. Just how this might be done is uncertain.

Status Quo Has Drawbacks

If the U. S. took over the islands, giving them territorial government such as Alaska and Hawaii now have, many of the problems could be solved. But opposing this, as well as the idea of taking over absolute control of the islands, is the heritage of the independence movement. President Quezon and the Filipino leaders now in office could hardly be expected to jump down from the pedestals they have mounted to shout the doctrine of "Philippines for Filipinos."

And so it would seem that Uncle Sam has the Philippine carabao caught squarely by the tail. He can't let go and he can't pull in the tail, hand over hand, till he sits firmly astride its back with a half-Nelson on the horns.

Even the status quo has its drawbacks.

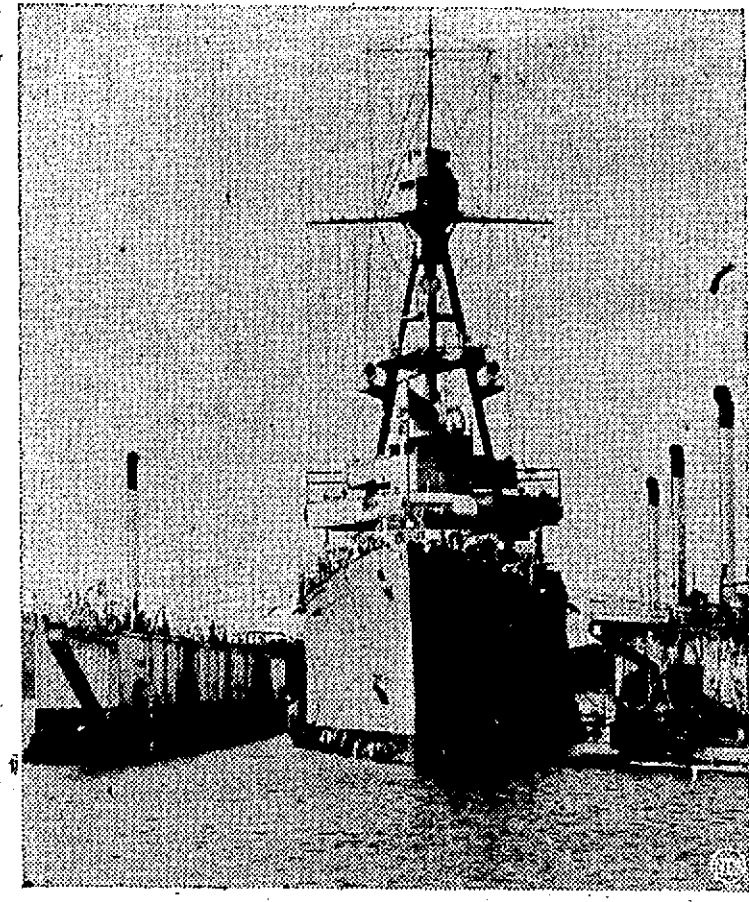

To foster independence, the United States has done everything it could think of, and the question of whether the U. S. colonization experiment on the islands has been a success or a failure is a topic for debate in every foreign office in the world. Dutch and British in the Indies and India probably think we are saps for not having exploited the islands more and for not keeping the natives in a more abject and subject state, giving them the fruits and benefits of civilization more slowly.

After 40 years of American occupation, Manila itself is a kind of American metropolitan shambles. There are beautiful buildings and beautiful parks and the old walled city still has its color and glamor. But the presidential palace is next door to a brewery, and all over the city, thatched roof hovels rear their unsightly slovenliness alongside respectability. Maybe this is a democracy, but it isn't.

FHA Picture Show in Hope

To Be Held at Hope City Hall Wednesday Night

The public is invited to attend a free showing of beautiful pictures of homes built through the Federal Housing Administration in several cities and towns throughout the state on Wednesday night at Hope city hall.

These pictures are in natural color and show different designs of homes ranging in price from $1800 to $5400. The approximate cost of each, the required down payment and monthly payments will be announced.

This is no selling scheme but an educational program to fully acquaint those interested in the purchase, or the building, of a home with the liberal terms afforded through the FHA Plan.

British telegrams were transferred to the State in 1870.

Build a Bridge

At first there was no bridge. On either side of the wide river people lived. But those on the far side and those on the near didn't know each other. They had no way to trade happiness or help or friendship. Each was the poorer because no highway lay between them.

But a bridge builder came. Across the river, reaching to the far shore, he made his bridge—a thing of substance, solid and lasting. And at once the people on the far side and those on the near became one people. Across the bridge flowed an exchange of all the good things that each possessed. Over the bridge moved friendship, understanding, affection and mutual regard.

You can build a bridge, too. Somewhere is a friend of yours who wonders about you. Across the river of distance is a family-member once close to you. Somewhere is one who remembers you. Somewhere someone is lonely and wants your understanding or someone is happy and wants to share happiness with you.

It's so easy. A letter is the wide bridge that carries you to them. Your letter shares your heart with that distant friend; it brings a comfort and a joy to that absent relative; it's the bridge that carries consolation to those who need it, or courage and light to those awaiting a helping word; to the aged it brings a warm glow of happy remembrance, to the youngsters a merry laugh of sheer happiness; it's the pathway along which your personality races to a father or mother awaiting patiently some news of their grown boys and girls. Build a letter bridge to one who is lonely in a strange city; to that youngster in camp or college; to that one on whom illness or bereavement has fallen; to those whose eyes are lit with new happiness and who want to pass some of it back to you; or even to someone who doesn't expect to hear from you but who will receive such word with a warm and grateful thought of the writer.

Send across your bridge a smile of happiness, a word of cheer, a bit of homey chat. Remember that the bridge runs two ways. Back across it will come multiplied all that you send.

A letter is such a heartfelt thing. It is a part of you, speaking for you, acting for you—the most personal and most charming way to say thank you, to wish God-speed, to give welcome, to congratulate, or (and here is the very essence of a letter) to create a tie that is lovely and enduring.

Don't put off writing because you "can't think of what to say." These to whom you write will see far more beauty in your words than ever you thought they had. Don't put off writing because you don't think it's important. Every letter that was ever written was important to the person who received it.

SOMEONE'S WAITING FOR YOUR LETTERS. WRITE TO-DAY TO THOSE AWAY.

Reds Take 7th Game 2-1 to Finish First

Cincinnati Scores 2 Runs in Seventh Inning for Victory

Making their hits count in the pinch the Cincinnati Reds downed the fighting Detroit Tigers 2-1 at Cincinnati Tuesday afternoon to take the 1940 world series in four out of seven games.

The Tigers scored their only run in the third inning, while Cincinnati banged out hits that were good for two runs and the series in the seventh inning.

Big Buck Newsum, pitching for the Tigers, allowed seven hits and two runs. This was the third game for the Detroit hurler who won his first two starters. It was the second game for the Reds' hurler, Derringer, who had previously dropped one and won one in the series. Derringer allowed the same number of hits as did Newsum but the Tigers only scored one run.

Perhaps the hero of the entire series was Jimmy Wilson, Cincinnati catcher, who gave up his coaching job in mid-season to fill the shoes of Hershberger who committed suicide. Old Jim who is 40 had retired as a player but had to be called on to take the place of Lombardi who was injured. His play was excellent throughout. He also had the distinction of being the only player to steal a base in the series.

Series play was close all the way through making it the best in six years.

U. S. Deficit 5 3/4 Billions

Exceeded Only by War Fiscal Year of 1919

WASHINGTON —(AP)—The Treasury expects the current fiscal year to produce a peacetime spending record of $13,000,000,000, and a deficit of about $5,760,000,000.

The anticipated total expenditure would be the second highest in all American history, yielding only to the World War fiscal year 1918 when the outlay reached $18,522,895,000. The expected deficit would be exceeded only by the figures in the 1918 and 1919 fiscal years.

As congress neared the end of the unprecedented appropriations for the government bookkeeping year which will end next June 30, officials contrasted the new outlook with the $8,424,191,570 spending budget that President Roosevelt submitted in January, before the huge defense program materialized.

The $13,000,000,000 spending estimate was predicted on actual cash disbursements on the more than $20,000,000,000 which this congress either appropriated or authorized in the form of contract obligations.

The $7,000,000,000 margin between the authorized total and the estimated $13,000,000,000 in actual disbursements presaged an unspent carryover to the next fiscal year which might set new records.

Baptists Open Revival Meet

Dr. C. C. Warren to Speak Daily for Two Weeks

The opening week night service of the Revival Meeting at First Baptist Church found a congregation that three-fourths filled the large auditorium of the church waiting to hear the first message of Dr. C. C. Warren, Little Rock, who will preach twice daily this week and next week. Congregational singing, led by Otha Taylor and an augmented choir with Mrs. F. L. Padgett at the piano was followed by a duet by Mr. Taylor and Mrs. A. C. Kolb. Choruses, also were sung by the "Booster Choir" which is being formed of younger boys and girls.

Those who heard the first sermon by the visiting preacher expressed themselves as being deeply impressed both with the message and the message. They prophesied increasing congregations which will tax the capacity of First Baptist auditorium.

Dr. Warren on Monday night spoke, from the text "It is good for me to draw near unto God" said in part: "Sometimes we wonder why the wicked seem to prosper and the good people

"As a man, Boris has never meant anything to me. Adam should know that by this time," Marta replied. "But, of course, as a director Lesencoff is priceless."
"If the storm holds off we'll have Adam's own explanation in less than 20 minutes," Sidney commented cheerfully. "When he invited you up for the week-end, why didn't you ask what was wrong?"
"If you mean why didn't I ask when he telephoned the invitation—Togi did the telephoning for him."
"Are you sure he didn't call himself while you were out?"
Marta had forgotten messages before this," Sidney puzzled.
Marta swallowed nervously.
"Not Statia, under the circumstances," she said. "I'd never have accepted the invitation, if a sixth sense hadn't told me to.
Before Adam left for this hunt I asked him to give it up. He has had too many closeups with death in the jungle."
"It worried me. On the last hunt, in India, a tiger mangled his arm. If Hugh hadn't been along with his cool nerve and instant aim, it would have been all over. You must have heard the story?"
Braitwood nodded. "The Langdons have always hunted," he said. "I can't imagine them deprived of the excitement."
WHY has Marta never married Adam Langdon? Sidney asked himself the question for the hundredth time. It would have been an ideal match and he knew that Langdon had always wanted it. Marta had always refused, yet she had held Adam's friendship to the exclusion of other women. Probably she thought a closer tie would injure her profession.
Hardly had they drawn up under the porte-cochere of the rambling old stone house Langdon's grandfather had built as a retreat for an all but insane wife, when the storm broke in full fury. Rain beat against the car and wind whipped their clothing about them as they ran across the veranda to the door.
It seemed to Sidney that they waited a long time for admittance.
He had time to observe that the garden had been neglected and that dead leaves covered the veranda. Finally they heard the patter of soft feet and Togi, the Japanese valet, admitted them.

Italians Again Warn America
U. S. Citizens in Asia Warned to return Home

ROME (AP)—Premier Mussolini's newspaper Il Popolo D'Italia warned the United States Tuesday that Germany and Italy and Japan were ready to go to war with the United States if America rejected the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo Axis mutual "living space" offers and persisted instead to "throw down the gauntlet." Appellus, the newspaper's commentator, said that America's furnishing arms to Great Britain and readiness to permit Canadian civilian pilots to train in the United States and blocking raw materials to England's enemies, a sequestration of gold of Europe's beaten and occupied nations and finally the British-Ameritrality."

To Reopen the Burma Road
Japan's New Allies Unable to Help, Says Churchill

LONDON (AP)—Winston Churchill announced in the House of Commons Tuesday that Britain would reopen the Burma supply road to China in answer to Japan's pact with Germany and Italy and declared that Japan's new allies would not be able to help her so long as the British ing."

"They will be," the House of Commons roared back.
The Prime Minister declared flatly that the three-way pact "binds Ja-the United States comes into the war," and hinted that it contained secret clauses and then cried defiantly:

"Neither of the branches of the

WETHE WOMEN
Who Was That Strange Person I Saw
You With?
By MUTH MILLETT
Wives are strange people.
A wife is a woman who wanted to marry a man that other women wanted, and then doesn't like it when they continue to want him after he becomes a husband.
A wife is a woman who tells the world how much her husband knows —and tells him how little.
She Wants Lots of Credit
A wife is a woman who thinks before marriage that her big job in life, to get a man she wants—and after marriage thinks the big job is to hold him.
A wife is a woman who wants half the credit for her husband's business success—but wants full credit for making a successful home.
A wife is a woman who knows when her husband needs a haircut, but doesn't notice when he gets one.
A wife is a woman with whom a man does not hesitate to talk about sordid money matters.
A wife is a woman who once

Rose Club Meets at the Home

Of Mrs. Hugh Jones
The Rose club met Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Hugh Jones with Mrs. Cleve Andrews as joint hostess.

Eighteen members responded to a roll call, answering with a brief description of a beautiful garden seen during vacation. Some of the gardens mentioned were Bellingham Gardens near Mobile, Alabama, Potomac Rose Garden near Washington D. C., and Bok Memorial Tower at Lake Wales, Florida. Many places of interest and beauty in Arkansas were mentioned.

The club gave the year book committee, Mrs. Thomas Brewster chairman of same, a rising vote of thanks.

for the attractive books distributed for the year work.

After the usual routine of business, the meeting was in charge of the program leader for the afternoon, Mrs. W. M. Cantley. The subject was "Leaves" and the leader opened with an original poem "Autumn-Marvelous October." Facts as to how necessary to life leaves are and how like unto the human body they are, were brought out.

Mrs. Sevu Gibson presented in an informative manner "Place of Leaves in Life Legend," bringing out the importance of the chemicals which go to the making of the various colors to be seen in the foliage of the different leaves at this time of the year. In closing she brought out how great a place leaves occupy in the physical or material world of man.

A guessing contest of leaves shown on a tray proved to be most interesting. The cutting of the cake, a unique method of making a little extra money for the club was enjoyed by all. Mrs. Andrews, who had the slice with the dime in it at the June meeting, furnished the cake.

A delicious salad plate was served during the social hour. Every member was asked to bring seeds from her own garden to the next meeting in November. The treasurer was instructed to send in the Federation dues as the club having functioned a year now belong to the state federation of garden clubs.

city planning. We have opened schools wherever we could, with the result that English is now almost as widely used as Spanish. Manila is education crazy, with universities, night schools and colleges turning out a white-collar class beyond all needs of the population.

We have fostered self-government and the idea that the islands would eventually be independent. A constitutional government has been set up, based on the American republic pattern, with an elective president, national assembly and local offices.

Money isn't lacking. We have poured millions into the noble experiment. After passage of the Tydings-McDuffie act, excise taxes were placed on Philippine exports of sugar and coconut oil. On Nov. 15, 1940, these excise taxes will be placed on all exports to the United States, and the revenues of these taxes are all turned back to the Philippine treasury to support their experiment in self-government. Over $50,000,000 was collected in the first year sugar and coconut oil taxes were levied, with the result that, at the beginning of 1939, the Philippine treasury had a cash surplus of nearly $100,000,000.

The islands themselves have poured out millions for their internal development, building schools and bridges and roads in a vast network covering the principal islands. Just this month, Sayre highway, named in honor of the present U. S. high commissioner to Manila, was opened in Mindanao as first step to further homestead settlement of the rich, virgin farm lands of the big southern island.

A start has been made at national defense, the building of a Philippine national army. Beginning in 1938, all Filipino males reaching the age of 20 were required to register for compulsory military service. Twice a year, cadres of 20,000 of these young men are called up for six months' training. Gen. Douglas MacArthur, retired U. S. chief of staff, was put in command of this training program at a salary of $35,000 a year. On a 10-year program, $80,000,000 will be spent and by 1946 the Philippines will have 400,000 men under 30 years of age, all with six months' training in infantry, artillery and aviation. Backing this national army, of course, is the U. S. warship fleet and the Philippine constabulary.

But navy there is none. Time was when Corregidor, fortress and naval base at the entrance to Manila Bay, ranked with Singapore and Hong Kong as a triangle of offense that insured English-speaking dominance of the China Sea. All were stations for naval squadrons of strength that could not be challenged, backed by shore defenses strong enough ple suffer... most of our difficulties and problems can be explained and will clear up when we enter the sanctuary. Our difficulties can always be explained by our distance to God. The Psalmist said "It is good for me to draw near unto God." He is a wise man who knows what is good for him—Many think that it is good for them to make money, others to climb socially, others to get higher education, but the main thing that is good for us is to draw near unto God.

"It is absolutely possible to draw near unto God because it is a matter of relationship—not distance." Dr. Warren cited instances in the Bible when men who knew of God really felt his presence only when they drew near to Him.

Dr. Warren pointed out that it was not only possible to draw near unto God but that that was the greatest need of every person today, because of our tendency to drift away and compromise with God. "We do not live for the thing that we say we will do for." "We make our profession with our lips, but our expression in life does not back it up." We need to get closer to the Lord that the joy of our salvation might be restored. Jesus invited us to a feast and a feast was most joyous event in oriental life so Jesus meant for us to be joyous. So many people today have lost the joy of their salvation (not their salvation—but the joy of it) and go around as if it were painful to be a Christian. If we live close to the Lord we can go every day smiling, even if it is through tears. We need to get close to the Lord because of our influences on others. Which way are we leading those who are looking to us? We need to get close to the Lord for the sake of the church because from within and without come attacks upon it. The world does not think any more of our church than they do today because of the low average type of Christianity. lived by the average type of Christian. The type of Christianity that we are manufacturing will become obnoxious—we must be demonstrators of what Christ can do in a life.

Dr. Warren went on to tell how we can get close to God. First, by that lost art of meditation—we should take a little time out in these lives of ours that are far too busy. If we pray and run and do not wait for an answer we can never have a Revival. We will not be any different ourselves. The Revival is not going to be worked up, it is going to be prayed down. The kind of Meeting we are going to have is the kind we want—the kind we are willing to pay for—the kind we are willing to pray for. Some of us get behind with our praying and we need to keep "prayed up." When we are prayed up we will be willing to do what He wants us to do—working for Him, studying His word.

Living close to the Lord keeps us far from the places where we should not be—brings Heaven down—it is the safest place in the world—it is the only place that keeps us ready to die. Tuesday night Dr. Warren will preach on "The Revival Needed—Can We Have It Here in Hope?" This service at 7:30 will be preceded at 7:00 o'clock by Prayer meetings of men and women and of young people in the Educational Building and by the second rehearsal of the "Booster Choir." All boys and girls 15 years old and younger are invited to come and sing in this choir.

to stand off any invader. But Hong Kong is now on the defensive and Corregidor has been allowed to deteriorate. All the burden now rests on Singapore. Naval defense of the Philippines would be impossible with anything less than a fleet the size of Japan's. All of the scattered islands, with a coast line of over 10,000 miles, are vulnerable.

Quezon King Pin
There is, of course, a general staff plan for the defense of the islands in case of invasion. And stubborn little brown Filipino fighters might make complete subjugation a long and costly business. But the supply lines, 1300 miles from Singapore or 6000 miles from Honolulu, would be hard to keep open.

It's the defense angle, as well as the economic angle, which makes the Philippine problem the tough nut it is. Keystone, king pin, No. 1 man, and Mr. Big in any solution to the Philippines' fate is, of course, President Manuel Quezon. He is the George Washington of his country and perhaps also the Benjamin Franklin, the Thomas Jefferson and the Abraham Lincoln. From Malacanman palace, the Manila White House, he runs the islands.

He has been accused of being a dictator, a despot, unfriendly to the United States, friendly to the Japs, and in addition has had heaped upon his head all the abuse that any leader can receive. He has advanced the idea that democracy can exist in a one-party government, and as a dictator of fact his Nacionalista Consolidation party has a 12 to 1 superiority over all opposition.

His stand on this point has been generally misunderstood, and as evidence, Quezon points to the fact that he himself has given support to the Re-examination Movement, wanting to have brought out in the national assembly and before the people every argument that can be made against Philippine independence. Whatever his faults, Quezon knows his Filipino high commissioner can succeed in Manila with out Quezon's backing and support. And when the new status of the islands is determined, it will probably have to dovetail with the Quezon pattern, which fully recognizes that in this day and age, no small nation can exist while the wolves of Germany or Japan howl at the doorsteps.

Negro, 104 Years Old Dies Monday

Peter Wylie, 104 year old negro, died at his home near Washington early Monday morning. According to neighbors the aged negro was born in 1836, the year Arkansas was admitted to the union. He had lived in Hempstead county for many years.

Each gardener received a plot on the Mid-South Fair grounds and planted the same kind of seeds. Neither used fertilizer. Whitaker planted in the dark of the moon, Zarzoli in the light. Whitaker got best results with okra and bush beans, but Zarzoli led with squash, pole beans, beets, corn, butterbeans, carrots, tomatoes, turnip greens, pumpkins and sweet potatoes. Whitaker admitted that hard work had won for Zarzoli, but explained that the moon "has been queerer this year than in 30 years."

HOPE NASHVILLE

Thus, unless you want to be the blind puppet of some dictator and as thoughtless of tomorrow as a Hottentot, you have to know what is going on around you. Which means, of course, that you must have newspapers—and good ones, at that.

Germany's newspapers or Russia's wouldn't help you much. Perhaps, by constant propaganda, they might teach you to forget your ideas of freedom and to forego your dignity and competence as an individual created in God's image.

Read, for instance, these few sentences from Adolph Hitler's "Mein Kampf":

"Propaganda has always to be directed more and more towards the feeling, and only to a certain extent to so-called reason. All propaganda has to be popular and has to adapt its spiritual level to the perception of the least intelligent of those towards whom it intends to direct itself.

"The masses, however, with their inertia, always need a certain time before they are ready even to notice a thing, and they will lend their memories only to the thousandfold repetition of the most simple ideas."

Now turn through the newspaper you are reading. Notice the news. See how carefully it is put together to give you a quick and accurate picture of what actually happened everywhere. Look at the respectful way the merchants and manufacturers ask for your patronage. Can you imagine an American advertiser commanding you or threatening you if you refused to like his wares?

Can you imagine your newspaper editor writing down to you, treating you like an animal, to be trained "by the thousandfold repetition of the most simple ideas?"

In your opinion, isn't your role as a free citizen, armed with accurate news and truthful facts about values, a rather desirable role?

It's your opinion that counts. If you and enough of your neighbors want some other system, you can have it. And if you like our present system, it's really up to you to preserve it!

NOTE: The purpose of these regular Tuesday institutional advertisements is to make American life and American business better. Your suggestions, criticisms or reactions will be appreciated by the Newspaper Publishers Committee and its chairman. Address the committee in care of the Business Office of this paper.

History of B. & P. W. Week

Business Women Observe 12th National Week

By CLARICE CANNON

National Business Women's Week was inaugurated in 1928 and was fostered by Emma Dot Partridge while she was the executive secretary of the Federation. During the past years the evolution of Business Women's Week has exemplified the evolution of the Federation's aims and activities. The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs is an organization composed of some seventy-three thousand women who are gainfully employed. The organization came into being at St. Louis, Mo., in 1919. It is impossible to estimate by any measure, the benefit the women of America have derived from it. Through the mediums offered by the Federation, women are kept well informed as to international politics, war, unemployment, revolutions and new social trends.

Each year the emphasis of National Business Women's Week has been directed toward some achievement that would protect the status of earning women. On two occasions emphasis has been placed on democracy. First, in 1936 when bombs were bursting in air in Asia and in Europe, and democracy was subjected to adverse propaganda, and now in this year when the fate of democracy still hangs in the balance the slogan of the Federation is, "Making Democracy Work."

The National Federation has chosen for the year 1940-41 a program that is world-wide in its scope, and it is of greatest importance to the women of America. Regardless of whether an American woman holds a position in the business or professional world or whether she remains a guardian of the home, the choice is her own. It is a fact, however, that only so long as democracy continues will this be possible. Women have most to fear from dictatorships. Such a regime as is prescribed by the dictators relegates women to the place held by women of the Asiatic race. The unique role allotted to them is to wait on men and bear their children.

The aim of this country for nearly two hundred years has been to make democracy work. It must work. In order to do so it must begin in the mind and heart of the individual and extend into community, state and nation. The great army of American business and professional women pledge themselves to vigilantly defend and preserve this democracy so dearly bought and handed down to us by valiant forefathers.

hectic game at Pine Bluff last year by a score of 19 to 14 to win the State High School championship. With Pine Bluff bringing here, practically the same team of last year and the Tigers having shown up well in their first two games makes this the best game for the Negro high school championship.

With the exception of a few minor injuries the Tigers are in tip-top condition. Coach Rainey will make several changes in his forward wall to give it more weight, as Pine Bluff has the heaviest line in the state. With only one veteran in the line, all state tackle Calvin Coleman 195 pounds, the Tigers line will be out weighed.

The backfield led by all-state full-back Pink Carrigan one of the best Negro backs in the State, who has been receiving offers from several of the big Negro colleges, will along with his all-state running mates Paul Grady, quarterback, Jewell Stewart, Halfback, give the fans a sweet example of fine passing, broken field running and kicking. With the team brushing up on its pass defense promises to make this another Yerger victory. Pine Bluff will arrive early Friday morning with a motorcade of some 500 persons.

The tickets are on sale for this game now at the High School and at Lewis and Wilsons Grocery. These are advance tickets which can be bought for 35 cents. At the gate Friday afternoon the price will be fifty cents. The advance sales will continue until Thursday night. Special accommodations will be had for the White fans.
